Points of Interest

Calcified Forest - Walk

These remains of an ancient forest are up to 7000 years old and were revealed when the lime-laden sand which had covered and preserved the stumps, was exposed.

Cape Wickham Lighthouse - Point of Interest

At 48m tall, the Cape Wickham Lighthouse is the tallest in Australia. The lighthouse was constructed in 1861 and still guards the entrance to the strait today. Also within the reserve are the gravesites of some of the crew of Loch Leven, a ship that was wrecked nearby.

The Cultural Centre - Exhibitions + Workshops + Gifts & Info
Open 1.00pm to 4.00pm daily (not Tue)

Always showcasing local arts, community projects, resident artists with a constant flow of exhibitions. Explore unique and authentic stories of the K.I. people in each room.

Huxley Hill Wind Farm

Visit this informative visual display site housed in a shelter which overlooks the wind turbines. Also includes an electronic display showing the current wind speed and power produced.

King Island Historical Museum Open 2.00pm to 4.00pm

(Tue, Thu, Sat & Sun)

A must visit, featuring displays unique to King Island's history; shipwrecks, mining, sealing, lighthouses, agriculture and telecommunications. Manned by volunteers.

King Island Kelp Industries - Visitor Centre Open Mon - Fri

(Unmanned)

Bull Kelp is collected from beaches, hung, dried, processed and mostly shipped to Scotland and we are all consumers of it.

King Island Maritime Trail

The Maritime Trail features interpretive signage close to the sites of many of the most notable wrecks around our shores. Collect the Ship Wrecks & Safe Haven booklet from the tourism information section at the airport.

Pennys Lagoon is a rare (found in only three locations in the world) "perched" or "suspended" lake. Its freshwater is held by compacted sand and organic matter. No stream or underground aquifer feeds into or flows out of the lake. The lagoon is a favourite swimming spot for locals and visitors.

Sea Elephant River is King Island's only tidal river and is a haven for water birds which exits at the southern end of the Lavinia Nature Reserve. A walk along the river provides easy access to view King Island's abundant bird species.

Shag Lagoon Bird Hide is a wonderful place where bird watching can be easy. The lagoon is beside the road and so is the hide. Suitable for the disabled, you simply step from the car into the hide. There are posters of local birds on the walls to help make identification easier.

Soldier Settler Trail

Around the Island there are a number of interpretative signs about the history of King Island's Soldier Settlers.

Advance Reservations recommended.
